NOTE: These are not services but simply visits during which I will offer the sacraments including confessions, Eucharist, and anointing of the sick on an as needed basis. these visits are dependent upon my energy and health, and upon the health situation of the institution.

ONGOING ANNOUNCEMENTS

1. Anointing of the Sick & LAST RITES

Please do not hesitate to call me to anoint someone who is hospitalized, before a significant operation, or before death. Anointing of the sick is a sacrament that every Ukrainian Catholic and Roman Catholic person has the right to receive. As a Ukrainian Catholic priest, I will focus on the Ukrainian Catholics, but in case the other priests are unavailable then feel free to contact me as well. Likewise, if I am away, feel free to call another Ukrainian Catholic or Roman Catholic priest.

Also, if death is reasonably foreseeable then please contact Fr. Ivan Simko ASAP. I strongly recommend no one to wait until the dying breath to call me otherwise I may not get there in time. Lastly, the sacrament of the sick is intended for the sick. It is only commonly called Last Rites when it is the last time you receive it and if death is reasonably foreseeable.

Please contact me if you have any further questions (306-563-5148).

HUMANS OR ANGELS

I have served at many funerals where such a comment is more or less made, "now so-and-so has angel wings." While well intentioned, this is incorrect. Let me explain.

In the ranking of the cosmos there is God, the angels, and then humans.

GOD is God, and always was and always will be. God is the creator of all things and the source of life. Our God is ONE GOD and THREE PERSONS, Father, Son and Holy Spirit.

ANGELS are created beings, they are created without a body but are still their own being, that is, they are only spiritual beings without a physical body. They never had body, and never will. Angels also do not have free will in the same manner we humans do. They have made the choice to be either good (angels) or bad (demons), and their choice is final, for they are not bound by time and therefore do not have the luxury of changing their choice. There are many good angels and many bad angels but the common understanding is that the good angels outnumber the bad ones 2 to 1. This seems to be based on Revelations 12:4a, "[the dragon's] tail swept down a third of the stars of heaven, and cast them to the earth." The good news is, the bad guys are outnumbered, and we have God on top of that, who became human, through the Son, died in our place and resurrected to give us the promise of new life; Himself.

HUMANS are also created beings. However, unlike angels, we are created body and soul, which are inseparable. In fact, in the resurrection to come – the one that we await when we die (Yes, our bodies decay while our soul lives on until the resurrection of all) we will resurrect and be given back our bodies, not in the same way we had them when we died, but a renewed body that is able to walk through walls and perhaps even bilocate. However, the newfound power would not be of interest to us as we will be enthralled by the presence of God, for we will see Him "face to face." (1 Cor 13:12a). Also, unlike angels, we have the continual option of choosing God. Our choice of accepting God is bound within time, and therefore we have the freedom to change our choice for/against God, because change is difference over time. After we die, we then no longer have the luxury of time to change our choice, for better or for worse. Once we enter into that phase we wait for the hour when "all who are in the tombs will hear his voice and come forth, those who have done good, to the resurrection of life, and those who have done evil, to the resurrection of judgment" (John 5:28b-29). So, we will resurrect – not re-incarnate or come back in another life as some other religious proclaim, but resurrect, being given back our bodies renewed whether we resurrect to life or to judgment. Same thing with Christ; He will not come back as re-incarnation or re-birth, but come back again in glory with the same body he left with during His Ascension, and that body that He ascended with is the body He died with but renewed, a spiritualized body. In a way, it is not that each or us has a body, rather each of us is a body. We are body and spirit combined, which means our bodies are not something to be abused or disposed of; our dignity is rooted in Christ for we are created in the 'image and likeness of God' (Gen 1:26) and our "body is a temple of the Holy Spirit" (1 Cor 6:19)

We die because we are bound by something called ancestral sin – the Roman Catholic Church says original sin – which has the same effect but different emphasis than ancestral sin. This is a sin that binds all of humanity and is best demonstrated with Adam and Eve's choice to disregard God's command. Choosing something other than God, who is the source of life means we choose our death. And death is the separation of soul and body. By their choice death has come into the world, "for the wages of sin is death" (Rom 6:23). "As sin came into the world through one man and death through sin, and so death spread to all men because all men sinned" (Rom 5:12) causing all to be bound by death and in the fear of death we lose trust in God and is goodness and mercy and therefore we sin by trusting our strength and goodness which often leads to other sins for "the sting of death is sin" (1 Cor 15:56a). While the Roman Catholic Church emphasizes inherited guilt, we emphasize the inherited death. The effect of this death and fallenness of our nature is the encrustation of the eyes, of not seeing the goodness of God because of scales of sin. Our continual death in the world to ourselves helps remove the scales of sin from our spiritual heart, giving us new eyes with which to see the goodness of the world, the goodness of God and the goodness of ourselves and others, a goodness we were all created with and for; the goodness, the beauty and the truth of God-who-is-Love.

RANKING the three orders goes like this. God as the creator is above all, then come the angels and then come humans, for angels are ranked higher than humans. However, through the incarnation of God at the Annunciation (March 25) and His birth at His Nativity (December 25) His death (Good Friday), and His Resurrection (Pascha), and finally His Ascension (40 days after Pascha) our nature has been elevated to a state we do not deserve outright, but we can when we live a life of love through dying to ourselves. When we love like Christ did, we unite ourselves to Christ in His crucifixion, we are created by the Father, we transmit the Holy Spirit, we become embedded in the Trinity; and when we share in Christ's death we share in His resurrection. This process of preparing for our resurrection starts in this life the life we live now. We have one life; we are called to live it well. To do so, we are called to live our lives with God, in synergy with Him. Synergy is a Greek compound word – syn means together and ergon means work – so we are called to work with God by uniting our will for ourselves with His Will for us. We can let God transform our hearts, which then guide our bodies in action. If we do this without faith in God, then we are misguided, but if our faith has no action then our faith in Christ is useless, for "faith by itself, if it has no works, is dead." (James 2:17) In other words, let our "faith work through love" (Gal 5:6) allowing us to be in synergy with God with both our hearts and our bodies.

IN CLOSING, God, angels, and humans are different from each other. First, God is above all and then come angels and then humans. We were never angels and never will be angels, and so we will not have angel wings after we die, but we will wait for our resurrection, the resurrection of all with the hope of life everlasting afforded to us through Christ Jesus.
